DOOLITTLE SETS NEW SPEED RECORD

RESUMES AIR AGAIN AFTER SETTING NEW COAST-TO-COAST MARK

Flyers To Attempt To Set
Speed Records At Cleveland

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—Not content with spending all but a few hours of yesterday's twenty-four in the air, Major Jimmy Doolittle took to the clouds again today.

Piloting an orange and red Lockheed plane the busy flyer who yesterday set a new trans-continental flying mark hopped off at 8:10 this morning from Lambert St. Louis field. In the plane were several officials of the company for which Doolittle directs aviation activities and their destination was the national air races at Cleveland.

The business-like little flyer allowed himself less than seven hours sleep following his 3,320 mile journey yesterday.

Doolittle hopped from Burbank, Cal., yesterday at 5:35 a. m. (Eastern daylight time) in the Cleveland air derby, touched his wheels there at 2:50 and landed at Newark by 4:50 p. m. His elapsed flying time, eleven hours, fifteen minutes broke the record set in 1930 by Capt. Frank M. Hawks, who flew from Los Angeles to Valley Stream, L. I., in twelve hours, twenty-five minutes.

The major walked up the steps of his home shortly after eleven last night as unconcerned as if he were returning from a routine day at the office.

The flyer, who had the gaze of the nation focused upon him all day and who had clipped an hour and ten minutes off a transcontinental flying record and earned $10,000 prize money and a gold medal as part of the day's work, ate a light supper, sauntered across the street to a neighbor's home for a short chat with his son, John Doolittle, who was visiting there, returned to his home, took a warm bath and went quietly to bed.

Asked how it felt to fly from ocean to ocean, and then halfway back again in the setting of a single sup, Major Doolittle laughed.

"Really it was not quite so exciting as one might imagine—my business is flying, and it was just a day's work."

"Naturally, though, it was a thrill to set the new record, and to win the prize."

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, CLEVELAND. Sept. 5.—With official clocks timed to record miles per minute instead of miles per hour, this airport, where the national air races are in progress, today was to be the scene of an official attempt to lower the world's speed record for land planes.

At least one American pilot and possibly two others were expected to streak over a three-kilometer straightaway course in aircraft rated among the fastest ever assembled. The world mark they seek to shatter, 278.48 miles per hour, was established by the late Adjutant Bonnet of France in 1914. The American record, set by Al Williams in 1923, is 266.59 miles per hour.

Lowell R. Bayles, the Springfield, Mass. aviator, who twice has amazed air race spectators with speed performances, was definitely scheduled to make the record-breaking attempt providing weather conditions were favorable for the flight.

The Federation Aeronautique Internationale, governing body of all aeronautical sporting events, has granted Bayles' formal application. All preparations were complete for

LIVESTOCK FREED BY TRAIN WRECK

GALION, O., Sept. 5.—Five cars of a Big Four railroad train, carrying livestock from the State Fair at Columbus, were derailed and wrecked within the city limits here today when the engine overturned.

Chickens, sheep and other livestock escaped from the cars. No one was injured in the accident, but damages were said to be heavy.

Cause of the locomotive overturning and the derailment of the cars was not immediately ascertained.

TWO MORE KILLED IN AUTO CRASHES

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Franklin County traffic fatalities climbed to seventy for the year today with the death of two persons injured in separate automobile accidents two weeks ago.

Paul Timmons, 21, and Mrs. Jennie Ruch, 63, were the victims. Timmons died of injuries suffered when his car struck a tree in Licking County. Mrs. Ruch suffered a fractured hip when hit by a taxicab.

POWERS HIDES KILLER NATURE

Appearance In Cell Does Not Indicate Brutal
Passion Attorney Finds

(Editors note: Barrett O'Hara, famous Chicago lawyer, criminologist and former Lieutenant-Governor of Illinois, is the first outside visitor to talk to Harry Powers, West Virginia Bluebeard. O'Hara came to Clarksburg to study the case from a criminology viewpoint and is not connected with the defense.)

O'Hara, at the request of David P. Senter, International News Service Staff correspondent, before returning to Chicago wrote his impression of Powers and recorded his personal viewpoints on the case in the following article.)

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Sept. 5.—When I visited Harry Powers in his cell, the man charged with slaughtering two widows and three children appeared unconcerned and his face and manner showed no worry.

There is nothing about his appearance which would arouse the slightest suspicion that a volcanic and brutal passion lies beneath the surface of his outwardly pleasant personality.

Powers is apparently not suffering from insanity with regularly recurring periods of violence. The Powers I saw in the cell was a different picture from the alleged fiend who wielded a hammer on a small boy's head, and gloated at the sight of running blood and the ghastly noises of the death rattle.

His voice is neither too high nor too low, a voice that with training might have done well enough on the stage or in the pulpit or courtroom. It unmistakably carries a note best described as "cooling."

The voice is clearly as capable of "cooling" soft words of nothing as the pen that wrote the love letters to hundreds of feminine lonely hearts with whom he corresponded.

The thinking processes of the Powers I saw are surface. His thoughts are not the product of much mental effort. His reading has given him a love for words and phrases rather than of an exactness of meaning.

There is indication of a brain that could harbor a maniacal design and doggedly carry it into execution; none of a brain that could calmly and logically conceive a well-ordered program of criminal activity.

Essentially the plagiarist, as he cribbed passages he liked from the ranges of his reading to make up the contents of his love letters, Powers would likely derive the incentive of any action, not in his usual routine from reading or hearing about what someone else had done.

EDWINA IS VICTOR

After Edwinna Booth, screen actress, had said no eighteen times in succession when questioned by her attorney, Gilbert Olson, in a Los Angeles court, she was released of a $50,000 alienation turned victor in a suit brought against her by Mrs. Sussette Duncan, wife of Duncan Renaldo, film actor. Miss Booth is shown on the witness stand.

STORE DAMAGED BY BOMB BLAST

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—Endangering the lives of seven persons living in suites on the second floor of the building, a bomb explosion today ripped the front of a grocery store and meat market, causing a damage estimated at $1,500.

A motive for the blast proved a mystery to police. It was at first believed that a racket gang had planned the bomb when the store owner refused to pay "protection" money.

Joseph Pesech, a milkman, narrowly escaped death when he approached the doorway of the store and saw the fuse on the bomb burning. He ran down the street and was about 100 yards away when the blast occurred.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO MEET
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Arrangements were being carried forward here today for a meeting of Ohio's Methodist Young People Saturday, September 12. Rev. F. B. McNeish, pastor of Westerville Methodist Church, will be general chairman of the conference.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS WHEN ISLES FLOODED

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Thousands of persons were rendered homeless, large quantities of livestock were drowned and enormous property damage was done today by flood waters which were sweeping large sections of England and Ireland.

Ireland appeared to be harder hit than England, although the midlands, Yorkshire and North Wales reported the worst floods in fifty years.

In Ireland several thousand were rendered homeless in Dublin and Meath Counties, and Drumcondra reported 200 houses were under water there. The inhabitants were rescued in boats.

Five hundred persons lost their homes to the surging waters in the town of Bray when the river suddenly overflowed. The torrents surged through the streets, ripping up the block paving and doing great property damage.

Several sections of Dublin were inundated, but late advices from there said the waters were receding.

Barrymore Name Proves Handicap Children Find

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—"Being the daughter of Ethel Barrymore seems to hamper you rather than help you when you are trying to make a success in musical comedy."

Ethel Barrymore Colt, pretty 19-year-old member of the "Barrymore Royal Family" thus explained to International News Service today why she left the George White Scandals in which she had been starred.

"I wanted to start in musical comedy like any unknown beginner," she said, "instead of being given a small part like I asked for. Mr. White headlined me. After all I am only 19 and have had no experience and naturally was unable to make a go of it. Ethel Merman took my place and I think she does much better than I did and I am glad she is doing well."

Miss Colt was dressed in a green chiffon printed dress with lace cuffs and collar. She wore black patent leather shoes and flesh colored stockings. She has the Barrymore forehead and eyes and speaks with a clear resonant voice much like her mother's. Her lips are full, her teeth pearly white and even, and her brown hair falls loosely about her neck. She is altogether charming.

Her brother John Barrymore Colt came into the room during the interview and said he too had difficulty with his first venture on Broadway. He was given the part of a 40-year-old theatrical manager and being only 17 he said he did not do so well.

At the conclusion of the interview Miss Colt picked up a bag and tennis racket and started off for the country with a party of boys and girls.

"We are going to be away over Labor Day and forget about job hunting and do nothing but swim and play tennis," she said.

"I really would like to be a swimming champion more than anything else in the world."

NIGHT RIDERS DESTROY FENCE AROUND POWERS MURDER GARAGE

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 5.—Reflecting the inflamed sentiment of the community over the atrocious crime of Harry Powers, self-confessed bluebeard slayer of five persons, a band of "night riders" early today burned down the fence surrounding the "murder garage" at Quiet Dell, where Powers had slain his victims.

The fence had been erected a few days ago by a man who had turned the murder site into "an amusement park."

The property was said to have been leased for this purpose from Mrs. "Lulu" Powers, wife of the mail-order slayer.

The vigilante committee wearing handkerchiefs for masks, ripped down the high board fence around the "slaughter-house garage" where the lessee had been charging admission.

The "murder garage" is about six miles from Clarksburg and was built by Powers with money loaned him by his wife. It was built with a sub-cellar partitioned into four rooms. It was in the depth that Powers slaughtered Mrs. Dorothy Lemple, of Worcester, Mass., Mrs. Asta Elcher, of Park Ridge, Ill., and her three children, according to his confession.

Gasoline had been poured on the "indignation pyre" by the vigilante band. The flames were carefully kept away from the "murder garage" which will be used as evidence by the state in its effort to send Powers on a quick march to the gallows.

County officials when informed of the burning of the fence began conducting an inquiry. No arrests were made.

COURT DECIDES AGAINST PACT

Claims Violation Of Geneva Protocol

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Sept. 5.—By a vote of eight to seven, the permanent court of international justice today decided that the projected Austro-German customs union violated the Geneva protocol of 1923.

Anticipating such a decision, both Austria and Germany had renounced the pact before the Pan-European commission of the League of Nations at Geneva on Thursday.

The court failed to reach a decision as to whether the proposed pact violated article eighty-eight of the treaty of St. Germain.

Seven judges expressed the opinion the pact constituted a violation of this article, while an equal number held it was not incompatible. One judge abstained from a decision on this question.

The seven dissenting judges included Frank R. Kellogg, former United States secretary of state. The dissenters held that the union was compatible with both the protocol and the treaty, but decisions of the court are governed by majority vote.

GIRL KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS TRUCK

MARIETTA, O., Sept. 5.—Ireda Lane, 15, of Newark, O., was killed almost instantly and her father, Hall Lane, 48, was critically injured today when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a stone-laden highway truck at Coal Run, fifteen miles north of here.

Kenneth Lane, 22, a cousin of the girl, who was driving the automobile received minor cuts and bruises. Police held the youth for questioning.

BEATS TRANSCONTINENTAL RECORD

Averaging better than four miles a minute, Major James Doolittle, former ace army flyer, flashed across the finish line, at Newark, N. J., just eleven hours and one minute after he left Los Angeles, to win the Bendix trophy race, and lower Capt. Hawkes' speed record of twelve hours, twenty-five minutes and three seconds. Doolittle

ALLEGED RUM RUNNER SLAIN

Four Others Caught;
Confiscate Quart

GLOUCESTER, MASS., Sept. 5.—Raking fire from a coast guard machine gun today mowed down one alleged rum runner, and resulted in the capture of four other men and a cargo of between 700 and 800 cases of liquor.

The man killed was Joseph Mello, 39, of New Bedford, father of five children. He was killed by a machine gun bullet through the head.

The coast guard picked boat No. 2394 took the captives to the base where they were held.

Those arrested were Captain Manuel Lewis, New Bedford; Harry Lewis, Fall River; Anthony Silver, New Bedford; and Francis Miller, of Dedham.

According to officials, one quart of liquor was found aboard the alleged rum-running craft.

SECOND APPELLATE COURT WILL DECIDE FATE OF BOSTWICK

Defense Seeks To Bar
Hearing In Motion
To Suspend

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—The success or failure of Probate Judge Homer Z. Bostwick's fight against the hearing of a motion that he be suspended, while attempts are being made to oust him on the strength of an alleged "diamond ring" episode, today lay with the second judicial district court of appeals.

Beaten on one point when Judge John R. Kling ruled that he had jurisdiction to suspend Bostwick, despite contentions that he did not, attorneys for Bostwick turned to the appellate court and filed a writ of prohibition to prevent the Franklin County court from hearing the motion.

Judges Albert H. Kunkle of Springfield, James I. Allred of Columbus and Roscoe G. Hornbeck of London announced they would reach a decision before Wednesday.

Quicker proceedings against Judge Bostwick were started by 1,400 petitioners who accused the judge of using his office to regain a ring he had given to Mrs. Opal Eversole before she was married.

GETS NEW POST

TIFFIN, O., Sept. 5.—Dr. Newell W. Sawyer, storm center at Heidelberg College last spring when students protested his dismissal, has been appointed head of the English department of the New York State Teachers' College, according to an announcement today.

TREASURY BALANCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The treasury balance on Sept. 3, was $115,593,517.85. Expenditures, $11,776,709.37. Custom receipts, $2,917,131.44.

WALKER IS HONORED

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Mayor James J. Walker of New York was made a commander of the French Legion of honor.

BANDITS POSING AS DRY AGENTS SOUGHT AFTER BOLD RACKET

Ham, Lard, Missing As Three Leave After
Searching House

On the pretext they were state prohibition agents and intended to search his premises for liquor, three men, all of whom wore badges and were armed with revolvers, forced an entrance at 2 a. m. Saturday to the farm home of Lyle Bollinger, residing on the Dayton-Wilmington Pike between Bellbrook and Spring Valley, stealing a ham and fifty pounds of lard from the basement.

The farmer was asleep and was awakened by knocking on the front door. Opening the door, Bollinger was confronted by three men, one of whom displayed a sawed off shotgun, while all had revolvers strapped at their waists.

Representing themselves as state dry agents, the pseudo officers told Bollinger they had information he was operating a still and wanted to search his residence and barn.

Bollinger asked them to show their search warrant. One of the men showed him a paper but refused to allow him to examine it.

Gaining admittance, the trio made a systematic search of the house and the barn. After the "dry agents" had driven away in their auto, the farmer discovered fifty pounds of lard and a ham, from the basement, had evidently gone away with them.

He notified Deputy Sheriff Walton Spahr about 8 a. m. and an investigation was in progress Saturday.

The farmer told authorities the men had been drinking and that one short, heavy-set man was in a particularly intoxicated condition. He was able to furnish a description of his visitors, and expressed the opinion the trio had one or more companions waiting in the car outside the farm house.

Sheriff John Baughn is trying to link the robbery at the Bollinger residence with the hold-up of an auto near Jamestown last Saturday night when a Fayette County man, returning home, was held up and robbed of a pocketbook containing $25 by two men, who wore badges and also posed as officers of the law.

Authorities believe the hold-up and robbery, similar in some respects, point to the existence of a new kind of "racket" in which bandits are impersonating officers to intimidate their victims.

Sheriff Baughn issued a warning to Greene County residents, asserting that legal law enforcement officers must show a warrant before they have authority to search an auto or a private dwelling. The sheriff said that state and federal agents never operate in the county without cooperating with his office and with a representative of his office included in their party.

QUESTION HUSBAND ON ACCIDENT THAT WIPED OUT FAMILY

Minor Quarrels Are Admitted; Auto Was Defective

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Although Patrick Reichley, 31, whose wife and five children were drowned last Thursday night when their sedan plunged into twenty feet of water in the Scioto River near here, stoutly maintained that the tragedy was an accident, authorities today continued to pry mercilessly into the domestic affairs of the family.

Questioned yesterday by County Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins, Reichley admitted that there had been some minor domestic difficulties but asserted that they had all been ironed out. He denied that there had ever been any serious trouble.

Authorities were particularly interested in knowing how Reichley managed to save himself from the fate of his wife and five children as the car sank in the river. He was taken to the scene of the tragedy yesterday where his story was checked.

Reichley said that the accident happened when "something went wrong with the steering apparatus of his machine. Examination of the automobile revealed, it was said, that the steering gear was defective.

Meantime, funeral arrangements were being completed today for the victims. Mrs. Sarah Jane Reichley, 29, his wife, and his children, Conrad, 9; Juanita, 6; Robert, 4; and Raymond, four-year-old twins, and Charles, 2.

WHEAT CROP GAINS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The world wheat crop will amount to 3,169,000,000 bushels in the northern hemisphere, excluding Russia and China, this year, compared with 3,303,000,000 bushels last year, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics announced today.

TELLING the WORLD'S NEWS with PICTURES

No Foliage for "Big Pete"

Grover Cleveland Alexander, former ace of big league pitchers, may have joined the House of David nine, which plays behind a disguise of luxurious whiskers, but he's not signed up to develop the hairy foliage which marks his teammates. Here's "Big Pete," as he is known, at left, conversing with two of his bearded mates at Philadelphia, in the vicinity of which the be-whiskered nine has been playing. Alexander's contract also specifies that he shall get a certain allowance to keep clean-shaven.

One, at Least

Lots of people, no doubt, have begun to believe there isn't such a thing as a full dinner pail in the country in these deadening days of depression. But here's a pictorial denial. We'll admit you may have to enter the exclusive ranks of society at Newport, R. I., to find it, but here's one in possession of Eugenie Morris, deb. She is taking it to the beach for a picnic.

Star Gazing

Virginia Cherrill

First recognized by Charles Chaplin when he chose her for his leading woman in "City Lights," now appears in "The Brat."

Wants Beauty Crown

With two score other beauties, Miss Virginia King, 19, "Miss Rocky Mount" of Rocky Mount, N. C., competes in a bathing beauty contest, at Lakeland, Fla.

Nabbed on Historic Common

Historic Boston Common was the scene of "Goldie" Waldman's downfall when Communist agitators voiced their fiery denunciations of all things American before a huge crowd. "Goldie" is shown being escorted to jail by brawny arms of the law. Even though she may be small, she put up quite a protest to being transferred from the great open spaces of Boston Common to the close confines of a cell. Fourteen other over-enthusiastic "Reds" suffered a similar fate.

Pajamas Invade Golf Courses

Survived Air Liner Crash

Escaping death when the giant Sikorsky amphibian (lower) crashed into the ocean off Gloucester, Mass., three survivors of the disaster are shown (upper) in Boston. Left is William Elmore, pilot, who is credited with having saved the lives of all but one of his passengers by releasing a rubber boat to which the rescued air travelers hung until picked up. Center is A. W. Esten, radio operator, and right Mrs. Lois M. Draper, of Waltham, Mass., one of the two women aboard. The plane was en route from Halifax to Boston when it nose dived into the sea.

Jap Film Star Adopts Son

Sessue Hayakawa, noted Japanese film star, became the legal father of a two-and-one-half-year-old boy in Los Angeles the other day when he and his wife adopted the child. Sessue first saw the youngster, a full-blooded Japanese, in New York a year ago and, becoming greatly attached to him, took him to Los Angeles. Above the film star, his wife and their new son are shown in Judge Samuel R. Blake's court after the signing of the adoption papers.

Navy Probes Her Death

Behind closed and guarded doors aboard the U. S. S. Lexington, riding at anchor in San Francisco Bay, naval authorities conducted an intense probe into the mysterious fatal plunge of Mrs. Daisy Price, young bride of Lieut.-Commander George S. Price, from the window of an apartment hotel. The inquiry by the naval board was conducted by the commander of the Lexington after a coroner's jury failed to fix responsibility. Photo shows Commander Price and his bride when they were married recently.

SET 'LIGHT PLANE' HEIGHT RECORD

Dorothy Pressler (right) and Bill Bleakley (left) set a new altitude record, at Oklahoma City, Okla., when, in a "light plane," they went to a height of 16,090 feet, the old record being 15,000 feet. Miss Pressler plans to try for a solo altitude record for women.

U. S. Girl to Serve Gandhi

Nilla Cram Cook (above), 21, daughter of the late George Cram Cook, American poet and playwright, has joined the movement of Mahatma Gandhi (insert) for the independence of India. She is the first American to be admitted to the "Ashram" or model colony conducted on the banks of the sacred Sharmati River. Miss Cook, a beauty, is fully prepared for her life of asceticism, sacrifice and service which she will lead as a member of Gandhi's sisterhood.

"Sergeant Jiggs," mascot and sergeant-by-brevet of the U. S. Marine Corps, casts a wary eye on Lieut.-Col. John J. Dooley, distinguished Marine Corps marksman, at the national rifle and pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. Both are honor veterans of the corps.

Beauty at the Beach

"Barney" attracted considerable attention at Atlantic Beach, Long Island, but not one iota as much as his fair owner, Gladys Glad, of "Follies" fame. Miss Glad is known as America's most beautiful show girl and, we think, you'll agree with that verdict.

Club Dinner - Dance Is Planned For Friday

ANOTHER of the series of delightful dinner dances given at the Xenia Country Club this summer will be held there Friday evening, it is announced by Mrs. J. Agnew DeHaven, chairman for the September affair.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and Mrs. DeHaven is urging that reservations be made with any member of her committee not later than Thursday noon.

If weather permits both dinner and dancing will be enjoyed out-of-doors.

Jannings Orchestra, Piqua, will furnish music for dancing following the dinner. The band consists of nine pieces and comes well recommended. This is the first appearance of this orchestra in this vicinity.

Members of Mrs. DeHaven's committee for the dinner dance are: Mrs. J. A. Chew, Mrs. George Kelly, Mrs. R. A. Higgins, Mrs. T. F. Myler and Mr. Marcus Shoup.

PRETTY CEREMONY UNITES COUPLE HERE.
In a quiet ceremony solemnized Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Barbara Jenkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Jenkinson, this city, was united in marriage to Mr. John H. Hanley, Champaign, Ill. The marriage was performed at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Henry J. Reinhardt, 281 Chestnut St., and was witnessed by twenty guests, members of the two immediate families.

The tennis tournament is leading in the greatest number of entries, with twenty-eight and because of this fact play in the tournament was started Friday and will continue until Monday evening. Separate tournaments are in play between the women's group and the men's group and the winner of each of these groups will meet Monday at 4 p. m. to decide the club tennis championship. It is announced by Mrs. P. B. Yockey, who is in charge.

Entered in the tennis tournament are the Misses Mary, Margaret and Sara Davidson, Jane Harner, Pamela Tilden, Anita Cherry, Kathryn Hibbert, Janet Frazer, Margaret McKay, Eleanor McKay, Mary Carolyn Smith and Sarah Jane Kimmel, Dayton, and Mrs. Katherine Farrell, Tom Huston, Charles Adair, Jr., Hall McElreath, Dr. H. B. McElreath, Andrew Frazer, William Elchman, Charles Weaver, Clinton Adair, Hugh Espey, W. A. King Jr., E. J. Kraft, John Gibney, Lawrence Hibbert, W. G. Hult and Russell Kimmel, Dayton. The tennis matches are being refereed by John Gibney, Lawrence Hibbert, Charles Adair, Jr., James Adair, Dr. McElreath and Dr. B. R. McElreath.

Separate golf tournaments for men and women are being planned with Miss Betty Kingsbury in charge of the women's division and S. M. McKay directing the men's group. The women's tournament will be a blind par on nine holes and will be played Monday morning. Entries made with Miss Kingsbury are Mrs. Mary Meredith, Miss Mary McKay, Mrs. Henry C. Flynn, Mrs. W. C. Craig, Mrs. Lawrence Landaker, Mrs. Ralph M. Hall and Mrs. Reed Madden. More entries were expected to be received Saturday.

Entries in the men's division of the golf tournament, which will be in play throughout the entire day, have been made by the following: S. M. McKay, chairman, W. G. Hult, Len Mitchell, Millen Davidson, John Davidson, S. M. McKay, and Henry C. Flynn. Others expected to enter this tournament are Dr. A. B. Keeter, Earl Mann, Ralph M. Hall, Chalmer Murphy, John Barlow, E. D. Martin, W. C. Downs, George I. Graham, Leon Spahr, A. H. Finlay, W. Crawford, Craig, J. A. Chew, C. E. Fisher, Paul T. and Lawrence Hibbert, Paul Snider, James D. Adair, D. W. Cherry, Edward Flynn, Francis Orr, E. H. Heathman, W. A. King Jr., George Galloway and Dr. A. D. DeHaven.

The men's tournament will be played on a handicap basis and each of the members has a fair chance to win. Anyone wishing to enter this tournament is asked to get in touch with the committee of which S. M. McKay is chairman, before Monday. Qualifying rounds for the President's Cup match will be played next week and members declaring themselves entrants in this match may count their Monday's score in their qualifying round.

The shuffle board tournament also has a large list of entries it is announced. Entrants will be paired off into teams and the final will be played off in the evening. R. D. Adair is in charge of this tournament, assisted by Mrs. George I. Graham. Members entered in the event are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris.

Mrs. Lou E. Harris, 83, widow of Henry Harris, died at her home, 214 Hill St., Saturday morning at 7:45 o'clock. Heart trouble was the cause of death and although she had been in failing health several years her condition had been serious only two weeks.

Mrs. Harris came to Xenia from Nelsonville, O., in 1894. Her husband preceded her in death a number of years. Mrs. Harris was a member of Trinity M. E. Church. She is survived by two sons, Carl Harris, Saskatchewan, Canada and Roy Harris, this city, and a brother, Cyrus Schurtz, Orland, O.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of the Rev. E. A. Rager, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church. Burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call at the home any time Monday evening.

FACULTY MEETING MONDAY WILL OPEN ANTIOCH ACADEMIC YEAR

Faculty meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday, will officially open the twenty-eighth academic year of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, the eleventh year of the reorganized program under President Arthur E. Morgan, who will not be present at the opening session as he is now traveling in Europe on several months' leave of absence.

More than eighty officers of the administration and the faculty will be on hand for the faculty meeting which will be conducted by Alko D. Henderson, dean of the college, to prepare for the activities of the first week.

Student activities for "Division A" will begin with freshmen placement tests and registration of upper class men and women at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. Registration and Wednesday, and regular class schedules will go into effect Thursday morning.

Only three newcomers are on the faculty roster this year. Dr. Virginia Nelson, a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., comes to Antioch as instructor in pre-school education and research fellow with the Samuel S. Pels Research project.

Erwin Sasman of Georgetown, Del., comes as assistant to Miss Hilda Hughes, director of the Antioch School, the private progressive school under college supervision.

Antioch faculty members returning to the campus after leave of absence for travel and study during the past year are as follows: Miss Jane Cape, professor of household economics; Mamatha Chatterjee, professor of social sciences; Walter Kahoe, instructor in philosophy; and Herman Schurer, associate professor of French.

Present indications point to a student enrollment for the year about the same as that of the past few years, according to Miss Deryl Clark, secretary of the committee on admissions. Since 1925 enrollment has been limited to 650 annually. Only half, approximately, of the applicants can be accepted for admission. New students accepted for entry this fall now total 201, of whom seventy-three are women and 128 are men. This year's entrance comes from an even wider geographical territory than those of last year, representing thirty-three states and three foreign countries, with New York contributing 14 per cent, closely following Ohio's 12 per cent, and Illinois, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Michigan, California, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Indiana, Wisconsin, Texas, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, New Hampshire, Arizona, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wyoming, following in the order named. Including old students as well as new, the Antioch student body annually represents nearly all the states in the union, with a more general geographical distribution than that of any other college or university in the country, with the obvious exceptions of Annapolis and West Point.

Robert Sherwood Kinsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinsey, who live near Xenia, is enrolled in the class entering Antioch this fall.

The Rev. Marcellus Fortman, new assistant pastor of St. Brigid Catholic Church here, under assignment of Archbishop John T. McNicholas, Cincinnati, has commenced his new duties.

The Rev. Father Fortman comes here under a new diocesan plan by which the direction of St. Augustine Churches at Jamestown and Waynesville will be assigned to St. Brigid Church at Xenia and neither church will have a resident pastor.

The Rev. Lawrence Mollman, resident pastor of St. Augustine Church, Jamestown, and pastor of the mission church at Waynesville for the last three years, has been assigned to the pastorate of the Catholic church at Marysville. All affairs of both the Jamestown and Waynesville parishes will be directed from Xenia with the new resident assistant here directly in charge.

The Rev. Father Fortman, who has taken up his residence in the parish house with the Rev. Lawrence Weasel, pastor of St. Brigid Church, came here from Carthage, O., where he has been connected with St. Charles Seminary. He is a member of the order of the Precious Blood and was ordained a year and one-half ago.

The new arrangement is already in effect and the Rev. Father Fortman will celebrate masses at Jamestown and Waynesville Sunday. When the schedule of three Sunday masses is resumed at St. Brigid Church a week from Sunday, assistants will again be obtained from other cities, as in the past. Masses will be resumed at 6, 8:30 and 10 o'clock Sunday, September 13.

Your Eyes and Your Stomach

—are related. Yes, it's true, the eyes often affect the stomach. Case reports show many cases of "nervous indigestion," and "nervous stomach," and "nausea," due to mal-adjusted eyes.

Your eyes may be functioning by "stealing energy" from other parts of your body, even if you do wear glasses.

Our optometric treatments sometimes correct such ocular conditions, without the aid of glasses. If you don't know to what your trouble is due, why not come in for a complete ocular examination?

"I Find Such Great Values In The Evening Gazette Ads These Days"

Be Wise - And Save

THIRTY people, both men and women, are finding that it pays to read the advertisements carefully, so many money saving bargains of real value are to be found in them daily; whether one is looking for new wearing apparel, new millinery, a new set of tires for fall driving, a new set of furniture—or a good place to get fresh, appetizing fruits and groceries, the ideal place to make the search is through the columns of The Evening Gazette.

YOU can sit in the comfort of your easy chair, and casually "window shop" the modern way, in a few minutes going over the representative offering of Xenia's most progressive and up-to-date merchants and business men.

THAT'S the way to save time, trouble, worry—and best of all, money. For you'll find firms that advertise are the most alert, intelligent and agreeable to deal with. They are proud of the bargains they have to offer, and know that the public should know about them. It pays to read the ads, daily. Its THE way to stretch that dollar.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest.—Ecclesiastes, ix, 10.

SIR HALL CAINE

gers of a generation ago than he is to their successors of the present Sir Hall Caine was better known to the novel readers and theatre-moment. In his heyday, Caine was a literary sensation. The person who did not read his novels, or who failed to see the dramatizations of those that got into the theatres—and what riots they were from the box office standpoint, some of them—simply wasn't in it. Whether they were proper and moral or not, was an absorbing question, strange as it may seem to people who take time to read the Caine works in these later, more erotically hectic, and less discriminatingly and decently recitent days.

When "The Christian" was sent out from the press and later appeared in play form (Viola Allen made her first big hit in the character of the heroine, "Gloria Quayle," back in '98, and how!) the work became the subject of sermonizing and clerical criticism all over the country. The religious and ethical ideas supposed to be contained in it, and its propriety as a story for the general public were discussed frequently and at great length. And, naturally, everybody read the yarn, even though bored. We have no figures, of course, but we are of the impression that "The Christian" was a very large single factor in the creation of the fortune which made its author reputedly the wealthiest novelist of his time.

There is no doubt that Hall Caine knew how to make a meaty novel—read some of his output if you don't believe it—and unquestionably ne understood his public. Beside "The Christian," "The Deemster," "The Manxman," "The Eternal City," "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," and a number of others of his works were emphatically best sellers in a day when to turn out a best seller meant something, and involved real creative work. As to Caine's permanent place in literature, that is something for the critics to talk about.

BACK TO SCHOOL

The schoolhouse doors are opening all over the land, and the great army of little and larger students is about to march in. The first day of school is a cheerful moment in family life. The youngsters do not dread their year's work as did the children of former days. The pill of knowledge is sugar coated with pleasant school activities. Lessons are made interesting and sometimes exciting. The boy or girl who is not glad to go back to school should see a doctor.

American life presents no prettier picture than the scene on the streets on the first day of school. The girls in their bright dresses, the boys in their new school clothes, constitute a spectacle as fascinating as the brilliantly costumed performance on a theatre stage.

Shining out of their bright school clothes also are the bright faces of these children. Their cheerful shouts make music in the air. There is an enthusiasm that goes with numbers. They feel they are a part of a great army marching on to good times and success.

For the parents also it is a day of happiness. They look forward to new gains and mental growth for their children. They see down the far vista of the years, and dream of their little ones becoming fine men and women. Also it is a bit of a relief to get the noisy crew out of the way, so that the work of home can go on with some degree of quiet.

The best wishes of the people of our city go out to all these ardent children. May the good times of the school year be more fascinating than ever. May they learn the value of the training the state freely gives. May they realize that life is not all play, and that it is time for them to get ready for their work in the world.

DO ALIENS CAUSE CRIME?

Do foreign born people commit more crimes than other elements? Is the increase of crime that plagues the country due in any measure to alien residents?

The Wickersham commission on crime and law enforcement has made a special study of this subject, and it denies that the aliens are responsible for any more than their share of crime. The popular impression does injustice to a great mass of hard working people, who are doing their best under great handicaps to make good. They find it hard enough to earn a living in a country where they usually know the language imperfectly.

The commission, however, points out that many children of foreign born parents have turned to criminal careers. These children come nearer to being Americanized than their parents, but they are not always as good citizens. The immigrant comes over here with a willingness to work and make good. But he does not usually know our language. When he has children and they go to our schools, they learn English, and too frequently some look upon parents with contempt, because the old folks can not speak our language.

These foreign born parents give their children good advice, and tell them to work and behave themselves. But frequently the children think they know more than their parents do. Such ones run wild, form bad associations, and are soon heard from in the courts. The ill starred careers of many of them show the great need for influences that shall hold them straight. Just giving these children book learning does not turn them into good citizens. If the American people want to stop the swelling wave of crime, they need to do something more for the children of non-English speaking parents.

Perhaps you may have noticed that the members of congress most anxious for a special session are the ones who like to hear themselves talk politics.

We wonder whether in the course of his efforts to get an education, Mr. Gandhi ever read the story about the dog in the manger.

LAST DISTINGUISHED ASTRONOMER OF OLD SCHOOL

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The last distinguished astronomer of the old school, of Ptolemaic teaching, was Tycho Brahe, who lived after Copernicus. Tycho lived and died an adherent of the Ptolemaic school because of the attitude of the church and because his astronomical instruments were not sufficiently refined, though the best of his time. But they were not delicate enough to show the annual parallax (displacement) of the stars. Tycho said: "If the earth makes an orbit around the sun, the stars should show similar relative displacements as seen from the earth." Modern instruments show stellar displacement. Tycho's did not. Consequently Tycho rejected the new Copernican teaching.

SIRENS!

Third Degree Practice Of Washington Police Due For Investigation

CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—The Washington police are not particularly celebrated for their success in catching real criminals, whom the courts subsequently are able to convict a scud, but they do have a wonderful record for arresting suspects.

In the first six months of 1931 they landed 5,200 citizens behind the bars for "investigation" as they call it.

That is to say, the cases against these prisoners are not even strong enough to justify locking them up upon definite charges. "Pinches" merely for purposes of "investigation" are made without warrants, of course. No magistrate would issue one, so vaguely expressed. Naturally, about 99 per cent of the individuals who were dragged into custody thus by the capital's guardians, between January 1 and June 30 this year, presently were turned loose.

However, during the period of his detention, the victim of an "investigation" arrest certainly is thoroughly out of from the outside world, if the police have their way.

His friends do not know what has become of him, except by accident. Only by pure luck does he get into touch with a lawyer. "Incommunicado" up to a maximum of 48 hours, while the "dicks" question him. There are said to have been inquiries which lasted longer than that, but two days is supposed to be the limit.

Of course the whole thing is illegal, not to mention its out-and-out unconstitutionality, but it probably would have gone on indefinitely, had it not been for a peculiar combination of two circumstances.

Circumstance No. 1 was the arrival at home, in a physically badly battered condition, which he attributed to police questioning, of a young Washingtonian who had just returned from one of these investigatory ordeals.

Circumstance No. 2 was the fact that it was a little too soon after publication of the Wickersham report, denouncing third degree practices in connection with police activities, for the anti-crime commission's strong language on the subject to have been forgotten.

The Wickersham report, it will be recalled, had hardly more than made its appearance before a chorus of denials ensued, from high police officials throughout the country.

Back in the long, long ago, some of these functionaries admitted, maybe there was an era when an occasional desperado suffered a little rough treatment at the "coppers' hands, in one city or another, to bring a confession from him, but all of them concurred that there hasn't been an instance of anything of the kind in the present generation of the law's guardians, anywhere.

The Wickersham story of the abuse of helpless prisoners was ancient history, according to all this expert testimony.

It was just at this psychological moment that young James H. Harker made his appearance from Washington police headquarters, with a black eye which assuredly he was not wearing when he entered there, his back criss-crossed with bruises, extraordinarily suggestive of the pattern a rubber hose would have caused, strenuously laid on, and on account of the fashion in which, as he makes oath before a notary, he has seen third-degree-ed.

Oh, yes, young Harker has a police record; he has "started something" nevertheless.

The incident was so timely! As the national capital, Washington, is so conspicuously in the limelight, too.

And finally, the District of Columbia being governed as it is, by a presidentially-appointed commission in executive charge, and by congress as its city council, the responsibility for whatever occurs in the management of its affairs reaches so exceedingly high up!

Young Jim Harker, it is true, is not seriously injured. His black eye and other bruises will wear off. But other cases are beginning to be talked of now—not all of them so mild. A fractured skull is mentioned. It is hinted that inquiry at Gallinger hospital will develop much additional information.

It is enough of a scandal to have been laid before President Hoover, and the justice department has taken it up.

And the Wickersham commission is vindicated up to the hilt.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Fruit Cup

Lamb Chops Potatoes

Baked Squash with Tomatoes

Sliced Cucumbers

Apple Pie Tea

This fruit cup recipe is a little different and appropriate to the season.

Today's Recipes

Fruit Cup—Peel peaches, cut in small pieces, add powdered sugar to taste. Remove seeds and rinds from cantaloupe and also cut in small pieces. Wash raisins and cut in halves. Raisins should be seedless, of good quality, moist and plump. Mix all together and pile into sherbet glasses with a little of the peach juice in the bottom of the glasses and chill. Before serving place a spoonful of whipped cream on top and garnish with either chopped nuts, maraschino cherry or candied orange peel.

Baked Squash with Tomatoes—Cut one small or one-half medium squash (about three pounds) and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Slice one onion thin, add two cups tomatoes and two tablespoons butter and pour into squash. Place in a pan and bake until squash and onions are tender, from one and one-half to two hours. Serve right from the shell. Serves six.

Cause of Tears Tears on meringue are caused by removing it from the oven before completely cooked. The eggs have liquidified and the meringue settled flat. If a meringue is cooked too fast it will toughen, wrinkle, shrink and liquify. Too slow an oven causes the same results.

Chocolate Nut Cookies—One and seven-eighths cups light brown sugar, one-half cup fat (half butter), one egg, two squares butter, chocolate, two cups pastry flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup evaporated milk, three-fourths cup chopped nuts, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Cream sugar and fat thoroughly, add egg and continue creaming until smooth and fluffy. Stir in chocolate that has been melted over hot water, and cool slightly. Sift the flour with the soda and salt twice and add alternately with the milk to the creamed mixture until well blended. Add the nuts and vanilla with the last few stirrings. Drop from a teaspoon on to oiled tins. Bake in a hot oven.

Suggestions Apple Marmalade

Five pounds sugar, two and one-half cups water, five pounds apples, two oranges, two lemons. Heat sugar and water together until sugar is dissolved. Slice oranges and apples rather thin, and add the juice of lemons. Add to syrup and boil very slowly until thick, about an hour and a quarter. Turn into sterile glasses and seal at once.

Suggestions Final Touch

A final touch that enhances the savor of fruit salads and certain vegetable salads is obtained by sprinkling the lettuce leaf base lightly with a simple syrup made of sugar and orange juice, or lemon juice. This should be done immediately before serving so that the lettuce will lose none of its desirable crispness.

Hardly any of us will confess that we are poor judges of human nature.

Expert Outlines Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Every day my mail has one or two letters requesting information about "how to get rid of pimples."

Insignificant as the condition may seem to the "outsider," it is a real tragedy to the victim. This is largely due to the fact that the disease occurs in youth and is usually on the face. Hence the patient is self-conscious and feels that the personal appearance is so unsightly as to make social contact with other young people impossible. The mental attitude and depression resulting from this is often more serious and disabling than the skin condition itself.

The scientific name of the disease is acne adolescentum, sufficient indication that it occurs almost entirely from the ages of 12 to 30. The eruption of pimples is largely on the skin of the face and back—places where the skin is naturally oily. In fact, the primary cause of the condition is a too oily skin due to increased activity of the oil glands of the skin. The glands which secrete the oil on the skin become especially active at the time of puberty (12 to 16 years), and in some persons become greatly enlarged as a result of the bodily changes going on at this time in the activities of the ductless glands.

The treatment of these enlarged, overactive glands is the first point of attack in curing the condition. It is easy to see the pin point openings of these glands on the surface of the skin. And if they get stopped up with dirt or grease, even easier. Then the secretion of the gland, instead of being poured out on the skin surface, is dammed back, and the gland swells, forming a small elevation on the skin. The opening appears at the top of this elevation as a black spot, so covered from the plug of dirt and dry grease which obstructs the opening.

This formation is called a comedone, and is the first step in the development of the acne pimple. It is easily infected with a pus germ which in this sluggish, obstructed condition, and with infection the second stage of red inflammation with a pustule in the center completes the picture.

It must be evident that the pustule will not develop if there are no comedones. Hence, as was said above, the complete eradication of comedones is the first step in treatment.

These patients should not use cold cream on the skin, or cosmetics, or face powders. Toilet creams simply add to the excessive greasiness of the skin. The powders tend to accumulate in the openings of the glands, dry the secretion and stop them up. Cleaning the skin daily with soap and water and pulverized almond meal should be conscientiously carried out. When comedones have formed they should be removed with a comedone extractor, which can be furnished at any drug store.

Editors Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

True Love Has Faith To Defend

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

B. G. says that over two years ago he told his wife to get out of the house and he has never heard from her since. A man told him that his wife had been misbehaving, and when she refused to defend herself he ordered her out.

He has never heard from her since, although he has written and advertised for her. The man who slandered her has never been near him since, either.

I certainly love my wife," he writes, "and am of a jealous nature, and I think of her day and night, but never want her to come back. I certainly wish her the best of luck and to always have the best of health."

Feeling as you do toward your wife, B. G., I think it is a very great pity you did not have more faith in her and defend her from the story that man told, instead of believing him and ordering her out of the house.

You could hardly expect her to come back or answer your letters and advertisements after the way she was treated.

I can hardly understand that you do not want her back, although you say you love her and wish her well. True love, it seems to me, has faith in the object of its affections, and will defend the loved one from defamers.

"Dear Miss Lee: I have been watching you, column and there was a letter about a woman smoking and drinking. I think it is a disgrace for a woman to do so."

"You may think this is from an old lady, but you are mistaken. I will be 20 my next birthday. I have been away from home since I was 16, making my own way. It just makes me sick to see a woman smoke. I would not call her a lady."

Hat Styles Require Fluffy Hair

By GLADYS GLAD

The Paris stylists certainly gave the female world a big surprise when they revealed the new fall and winter hat modes. For the last season's trend in hat styles was undergarment complete reversal. Instead of being trim, and retreating farther and farther back toward the crown, the newest chapeaux have taken on brims and are advancing ever nearer to the right eyebrow. They are tipped jauntily over the right eye, and the entire left side of the head is revealed.

These jaunty new hats, however, take a lot of wearing. They must be tipped at just the right angle. And what is more important, they must reveal a coiffure that is perfection itself! The gal who wants to step out a la Empress Eugenie, or with a shallow little derby on her tresses must have attractive tresses to disclose or she won't be living up to her headgear.

Personally, I think that the stylists were old meanies to devise such hat styles right after a hard summer. For summer is often the temporary ruin of many a formerly attractive head of hair. But since we do have these hat styles now, and we do mean to wear them, we'll just have to get busy on our locks right away.

It is generally extreme dryness that afflicts the hair at this time of the year. Perspiration, ocean water and sunlight all tend to remove too much of the natural oil from the hair. And formerly soft and silky tresses become dull stiff and brittle.

Hot oil shampoo is the most effective remedy for this condition. The method of administration—these shampoos, together with the brushing and massaging that should accompany them, are all fully described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet. And you can recondition your hair yourself without having to mortgage the old hairdresser to get the price.

But after you have given your tresses a hot oil treatment, to sure that you remove all the oil in the shampooing that follows. The oil would do your hair any harm, of course, if it is not all removed. But it may detract from its appearance. For if all the grease is not removed the hair may become sticky, and dull and lifeless in appearance. And this is not the effect you want to achieve. Lemon rinse, and vinegar rinse, tend to cut the oil in the hair, and if you wish to be positive that the grease has all been removed, use one of these solutions for the final rinse. They will help to give your hair the soft, fluffiness that those new hat styles demand.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Perishing Hands Worried? To correct moist, perspiring hands, apply a solution of two drams of boric acid, three drams of borax, three drams of salicylic acid, three ounces of glycerine and three ounces of bay rum three times a day.

Reducing T. R. P.: My method of reducing hips, thighs and bust is too long to print in this brief space. However, the process is fully outlined in my booklet on "The New Figure."

Coffee Helena: You are indeed drinking too much coffee. Coffee contains the drug caffeine, and should be imbibed moderately. One cup with each meal should be sufficient.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail she will be happy to send you her pamphlet "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For her articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Beauty Culture" send your questions to be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

Youthful aspirants for Xenia Central's football team are cavorting about the Cox Field gridiron these days not only in the morning but in the afternoon as well.

Practice sessions are being held twice daily, in the forenoon and afternoon, each workout lasting about an hour and a half.

The Buccaneer grid squad now numbers around thirty-five candidates, a slight increase from the total on hand for the first practice last Tuesday morning.

Quite a few of the big fellows, including a number of veterans of last season, are still holding out on Coach Walter C., however.

The football gridiron looks to be in great shape to withstand the cleeted tramping this fall, although when that part of the pre-season training period known as scrimmaging begins, the boys will probably tell you the ground beneath the velvety sod is just about as hard as it ever was. The grass has been clipped closely.

Despite all the hullabaloo raised last fall about curtailing this year's football season to eight, or at the most, nine games, the 1931 Xenia schedule, it is discovered, calls for ten games, the same as before.

Following the perennial custom, the Buccaneers open their season with Washington C. H., but the game will be staged for a change at Cox Field, September 25, of a Friday afternoon.

Six of the ten contests will be played before the home folks but the Xenia eleven will wind up its season away from home Thanksgiving Day, November 26. Urbana will be the opponent, however, instead of Springfield High, which was written off the schedule.

Central's home games are with Washington C. H., Wilmington, Cincinnati Withrow, Greenville, O. S. and S. O. Home and Sidney. The Greenville and Sidney games are Miami Valley League affairs. Piqua, Miamisburg and Troy, will be met away from home. Here is the schedule:

Sept. 5—Washington C. H. here.
Oct. 2—Piqua, away.
Oct. 9—Wilmington here.
Oct. 16—Cincinnati Withrow here.
Oct. 24—Miamisburg, away.
Oct. 29—Greenville, here.
Nov. 7—Troy, away.
Nov. 13—O. S. & S. O. Home, here.
Nov. 20—Sidney, here.
Nov. 26—Urbana, away.

Bill Pickel, the well known bowler, driver and better known bowler, who rolled a perfect score of 300 in a practice game last summer, believes he established some kind of a bowling record at the Recreation Parlor the other day. Bill made fifteen consecutive strikes, but the sad part of it is the long row of strikes were divided between two games. In one practice game, he started off with two strikes, missed the next frame, then recorded nine straight strikes to wind up with a score of 267. Beginning where he left off, Bill made six more strikes to start off with his next game, then ran into a split. Last year he had the good fortune to put a dozen strikes together in a single game to record his perfect 300 score, a feat attained only twice before in modern local bowling history.

BOOK THREE GAMES FOR OVER HOLIDAY

Something different in the way of a softball jamoree is planned for Labor Day afternoon at New Jasper.

Three seven-inning recreation ball contests, with the possibility four may be arranged, are on the program, the first game commencing at 1:30 p. m. Monday.

Novelty will be introduced into the entertainment by reason of the fact the competing softball teams will not know until after they are actually on hand at the New Jasper diamond, which team will play which. An effort will be made, by scanning the season's records of the teams, to pair them off in a manner designed to produce contests as evenly matched as possible.

The six teams entered so far in the competition include the Dayton Tramps, Paintersville Famous Autos, Mt. Tabor Flyers, Stevenson Rd., New Jasper and Gunnersville.

JUVENILE WORKER WILL BE SPEAKER

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, assistant probation officer of the juvenile department of Probate Court, will speak before the Friends Church Sunday School Sunday morning during the junior worship service. Her talk will be in the interest of a temperance education contest to be conducted in the Greene County schools and throughout the state.

The contest is planned to help educate young people in temperance. Parents are urged to attend the service Sunday morning to become better informed on the subject of prohibition and its results.

NEARLY 300 CANDIDATES WILL SEEK PUBLIC OFFICE IN COUNTY

A record-breaking total of 292 candidates for various township, village and school board offices filed nominating petitions with the board of elections before the deadline hour at 6:30 p. m. Friday, a check by Earl Short, clerk of the board, disclosed. This far surpasses the number enrolled for the general elections four years ago.

Fred W. Lang, auto dealer, and Carl E. Knisley, High St. contractor, added their names to the field of candidates for the Xenia city board of education, raising to five the number aspiring for the three existing school board vacancies. Others who had filed were Charles A. Bone and Louis F. Clark, seeking re-election, and Dr. J. A. Yoder, osteopathic physician.

J. B. Rife, Clifton, and H. E. Bales, Jamestown, are without opposition for re-election as members of the Greene County board of education.

Six candidates weighed in for the three positions on the Xenia Twp. board of trustees and two for the job as clerk-treasurer of the board. Graham Bryson, Ward Grant and W. M. Harper, present trustees, will be opposed at the polls by B. D. Conklin, C. S. McDaniel and Jacob Harner, while the present clerk, R. E. Bryson, will have opposition from J. A. Wipert.

Crampton B. Lott filed his petition as a candidate for the Xenia Twp. school board. Horace Anderson, seeking re-election, and Harvey E. Fulkerson, serving an appointive term are also candidates. Terms of Anderson and Fulkerson expire.

The four candidates in the race for vacancies on the Beaver Creek Twp. school board are Mrs. Martha Bradford, Ben Beiden, Arthur M. Stewart and H. F. Stedman.

Mayorality contests are assured in four of the eight villages of the county. Oliver Watson and G. E. Hodson are rival candidates for mayor of Bellbrook, Adam E. Longstreth and Charles W. Phipps are mayoralty candidates at Fairfield. A. E. Richards and Charles J. Johnson seek the job of mayor of Cedarville, and Thomas A. Donley and C. C. Stephenson are the Yellow Springs candidates for mayor.

Unopposed mayorality candidates are: W. T. Naragon, Osborn; J. W. Fulkerson, Spring Valley; E. A. Story, Bowersville, and W. E. Reid, Jamestown.

Twenty-six candidates filed for municipal offices in Fairfield village, the number including a dozen candidates for council and six for marshal.

Candidates who filed belated nominating petitions with the board Friday are as follows:

Osborn village—Sumner S. Schaefer for clerk; L. Vost, F. C. Massey, G. W. Troutman and W. T. Groner for council; H. A. Dellinger, C. E. Semler and Harvey K. Miller for board of public affairs.

Bowersville village—E. A. Story for mayor; C. H. Chitty, clerk; H. Fisher for treasurer; Ora Leming for marshal; C. A. Devoe, K. M. Johnston, W. C. Warnock, H. L. Bowermeister, C. A. Ellis and E. N. Caraway for council.

Spring Valley village—Max Compton for clerk; Hannah J. Harper for treasurer; H. A. Blair, C. C. Hartsock, W. E. Crites, Henry Walton, J. A. Badgley and C. A. Sollars for council.

Yellow Springs village—C. C. Stephenson for mayor; L. D. Welch, J. P. Zell and C. H. Hackett for council.

B. A. Pendry, W. L. Cline and Philip Sheridan for Jefferson Twp. trustees; Clayton McMillan, Meryl Stomont and Frank Creswell for Cedarville Twp. trustees; Jacob Harner for Xenia Twp. trustee; Joseph T. Hutchinson and Grover Wolf for Beaver Creek Twp. trustees; Earl Whittington for New Jasper Twp. trustee; J. A. Wipert for Jasper trustees; Harry A. Hagler for New Jasper Twp. clerk; W. C. Hilt for Cedarville Twp. school board; Ray S. Rudge, Homer M. Spahr and E. H. Huston for New Jasper Twp. trustees; LeRoy Lee for Miami Twp. trustee; Charles J. Johnson for mayor of Cedarville; Charles M. Alexander for Miami Twp. school board.

Fred W. Lang and Carl E. Knisley for Xenia city school board; Roy Bassett and Ralph Fulton for Bath Twp. school board; C. A. Huff and John Elliott for Spring Valley Twp. school board; W. B. Clemmer for Silver Creek Twp. school board (long term); H. S. Noggle for Spring Valley Twp. school board; Earl J. Murry for Silver Creek Twp. clerk; C. B. Lott for Xenia Twp. school board; H. S. Noggle, T. A. Boyd and R. N. Stingley for Spring Valley village council; Ward Grant for Xenia Twp. trustee; R. G. Bock, C. Gilbert Ream, T. W. Pendry, and W. J. Baker for Jefferson Twp. school board; F. W. Hughes for Miami Twp. trustee; Charles Mendenhall for Spring Valley Twp. trustee; N. N. Sams for long term and Milton A. Oliver for short term on Silver Creek Twp. school board.

BULLETINS BROUGHT VICTIMS TO POWERS

American Friendship Society
Incorporated as a Non-Profit Organization
P. O. BOX 100, DETROIT, MICHIGAN

My Good friend:-

Would you like to meet some new and interesting lady friends?

I have thousands of ladies from every walk of life

Wealthy Widows
Retired Widows
Business Women
Hotel Owners
Farmettes

Beautiful Girls
Charming Maidens
Lovely Nurses
Musicians
Teachers, etc.

ALL anxious to make new friends, and for your approval, I am enclosing a few of the many interesting ladies that came with us lately.

You know, so many people do not have the opportunity of meeting the right kind of people. Some live in small towns where there is no one that particularly appeals to them; others again, live in large cities, where it is even more difficult to make friends, because during the day they are at work, having no opportunity to make social friends, and when evening comes, they stay at home, because it is not pleasant to go places alone. Then there are still others who have a lot of friends, but not ONE among them would they choose for a life partner.

It's surprising what wonderful benefits my members receive, many of our members "MARRY", in two to three weeks time. What I have done for others, of course, makes me very happy, but that is not what I am interested in, right now, I am interested in "YOU", and "MARRIAGE" is going to be the turning point in "YOUR" life, what is it going to mean to you? A BRIGHT and PROSPEROUS future with a CONGENIAL LADY whom you selected from thousands of others, or a DOUBTFUL future of what "CHANCE" may offer.

This is a facsimile of the circular broadcast by the American Friendship Society, of Detroit, the organization through which Harry P. Powers, Clarksburg, W. Va., "Bluebeard" "met" his victims. "Partners for Life" are promised in the circulars which also state that "marriage will be the turning point in your life." Governor Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan has ordered an investigation.

TENNIS TOURNAY IS STILL IN PROGRESS

First round matches in the men's and women's divisions of the singles tennis competition were still in progress at the Xenia Country Club Saturday.

One match in each division was played Friday afternoon. Eddie Kraft eliminated Charles Adair, 11-9, 1-6 and 6-3 in a three-set struggle, while Miss Margaret McKay advanced to the second round of the feminine division by defeating Miss Janet Fraser, 6-1, 4-6, 6-0.

Miss Mary Davidson eliminated Miss Jane Harner, 6-0, 6-2 in another first round feminine match Saturday, while George Hunt reached the second round of play without setting foot on the court, winning from John Gibney by default.

The tournament play continued Saturday afternoon, the quarter finals being scheduled for Sunday.

RUSE LED ATTACK OF CHAMPS

Lee Ruse, probably the best fielding shortstop in Xenia softball circles, also provided the leading "punch" for the Lang Chevrolet softball team at bat during the current season. Ruse topped the individual batting of the two-time National League champions with a season's average of .369. Besides hitting twenty-seven ordinary singles, Lee cracked out seven doubles, two triples and two homers. Prof. Seal, Birch Bell and "Bulldog" Smith were the other Lang regulars in the "300" group. The team's batting average was .278. Individual Lang batting records follow:

MISSING BROKER IN REALTY DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE ACTION

T. C. Long, missing Xenia real estate broker, and the Glens Falls Indemnity Co., Glens Falls, N. Y., as his surety, have been sued in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Jennie M. Bradute, 608 N. King St., for $500, the claim being made that the realtor defrauded her of this amount in a real estate transaction.

Mrs. Bradute declares in the petition that she listed her residence property in Xenia with the realtor for sale last February 1 and that on last March 1 she contracted to sell the property for $7,000 to Dr. Marshall M. Best, Xenia physician. The deal was made through Long's agency, it is claimed.

The petition sets forth the physician deposited $500 as a binder with Long until the deal was fully completed, but abandoned the contract, thereby forfeiting the $500 deposit to the plaintiff.

Long, through whom the deal was made, "left Xenia about May 15 for parts unknown," Mrs. Bradute charges, and has defrauded her of the $500 by converting the money to his own use. George H. Smith is the plaintiff's attorney.

The bonding company is also named defendant in the action because it was surety for Long's indemnity bond of $1,000, according to the petition.

The Theater

Next week is Paramount Jubilee Week and the Bijou Theater, with three Paramount offerings booked for the week, is doing its bit toward helping the twentieth anniversary celebration.

Paramount has enjoyed twenty years of unprecedented success and leadership in the film industry. Twenty years ago producing companies were not as well organized, as well financed and as sound as now.

There had been, as a result, a succession of producing companies, some short-lived and others that grew to some strength and importance. Not the least of these that followed in the wake of Vitaphone,

Bijou Thursday and Friday. This film, rated as one of the funniest in years, is Paramount's idea of how to re-name Sinclair Lewis' story of child-life, "Let's Play King", which was popular in serial and novel form. With its new name it sounds like a gay sex story, which is far from the truth. The cast is top-notch. It includes one of the screen's best-known comedians in Louise Fazenda, that pastmaster of the art of facial gymnastics, Edna May Oliver, that precious youngster, Mitz Green and that saintly infant, Jackie Searl. Others are Virginia Hammond, Bruce Line, Lawrence Grant, Dell Henderson, Ben Taggart, George Regas, Noah Young, Ben Hall and Howard Golstein.

No picture has been booked yet for Saturday. Winnie Lightner, supported by those two fun-makers, Olson and Johnson, opens the week at the Orpheum in "Gold Dust Gertie," from the play, "The Wife of the Party." It will appear Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Twenty Years '11-Ago-'31

Laurence Swabb, S. Detroit St., was pleasantly surprised by the boys of his Sunday School class, the occasion being his birthday.

The new Methodist Protestant Church, recently built at Bowersville, will be dedicated Sunday, September 10.

About 300 attended the seventh annual reunion of the Devoe and Ary families in J. W. Faulkner's grove, near Paintersville.

NONSENSE

"Gotta wife in a million—she's not a back-seat driver."

It is made from Leonard Merrick's novel, "Laurels and the Lady" and is the story of a cafe entertainer involved in delightful romance. The handsome young Ralph Bellamy is Miss Chatterton's leading man, for a refreshing change and the cast is made to sparkle with Stuart Erwin, Sam Hardy, Francoise Rosay and others. The film will be screened Sunday and Monday.

That much talked of film story, "Confessions of a Co-Ed", featuring Sylvia Sydney, Phillips Holmes and Norma Foster, will be the Tuesday and Wednesday attraction. The story is supposed to have been made from the actual diary of a college girl, who prefers to remain anonymous. Sylvia Sydney, the Broadway stage girl who took Clara Bow's place in the Paramount personnel with such successful results recently, is a college freshman who attracts the interest of two upper classmen, Holmes and Foster, thus arousing the jealousy of a senior girl, played by Claudia Dell. Most of Paramount's young beauties appear in the picture, the cast including, besides those mentioned, Florence Britton, Martha Sleeper, Dorothy Libaire, Marguerite Warner, George Irving, Winter Hall, Eulalie Jensen, Bruce Colman and Dickie Moore.

You mustn't be misled by the name of the last picture, "Forbidden Adventure", which is at the

SCHOOL BELL TO CALL 147 BEGINNERS HERE.

START SCHOOL HERE AS FIRST GRADERS; NUMBER DECREASES

Schools Assigned To Youngsters; Must Be Vaccinated

The ringing of the school bell will have a new meaning for 147 Xenia youngsters Monday morning, September 14.

This number of little "tots" will trudge off to the public schools of the city for the first time when school convenes for the fall semester.

The complete list of "first graders," announced Friday by F. R. Woodruff, Central High School principal and acting city school superintendent during the temporary absence of Louis Hammerle, was obtained after a survey made during the summer vacation period.

The list of new first grade pupils includes forty-seven enrolled at McKinley building, thirty-two at Lincoln, thirty at Spring Hill, twenty-two at Central and sixteen at Orient Hill.

The number of "beginner" pupils represents a decrease of twenty-five from last year when 172 "first graders" were registered when the fall term began.

In announcing the assignment of the first grade pupils to the various buildings, the acting superintendent asks parents of any boys and girls who will be 6 years of age by January 1, 1932, and whose names have not been included in the list, to communicate with his office immediately.

The announcement also emphasizes the importance of conforming with the state requirement that all first grade pupils must be vaccinated before entering school this fall. All local physicians have been furnished certificates of vaccination which must be presented by the school children to their teachers when classes convene for the fall term.

Grade school pupils up to and including the sixth grade are to report at school at 8:55 a. m., Sept. 14 and junior and senior high school classes will take up at 8:30 a. m. Following is the list of "beginner" pupils:

Home After Narrow Escape

Peaceful New York with all its gang shootings looked like Heaven to Lisa Gardiner (left) and Beatrice Coles, both of Washington, D. C., when they arrived on board the S. S. Manuel from a harrowing experience in Spain. The girls miraculously escaped death by machine gun fire, they said, when they were caught in the revolt which overthrew King Alfonso. They were in Spain studying dancing, but the music of the bullets hastened their departure.

NINE NEW TEACHERS EMPLOYED ON PUBLIC SCHOOL STAFFS HERE

Filling existing vacancies, nine new teachers have been added to the teaching personnel announced for the Xenia public schools for the 1931-32 school year by F. R. Woodruff, acting city school superintendent, Friday.

Three changes in the Central High School faculty are revealed. Miss Agnes Ballantyne, Xenia, a graduate of Muskingum College, has been employed as instructor of English. Miss Marjorie Orr, Pittsburgh, Pa., who graduated from Muskingum College last spring, will teach public speaking and English. Robert P. Louis, new social science teacher, is a graduate of Oberlin College and for two years taught in a mission school in China. His home is in Hamilton, O.

The two new members of the teaching staff at the McKinley grade building are Miss Gladys Bales, Jamestown, who will teach writing and spelling, and Miss Louise Waddle, Xenia, first grade teacher, who taught a year at the Hill Top rural school in Xenia Twp.

Miss Louise Herbert, Hamilton, O., graduate of Miami University, has been added to the Spring Hill grade school faculty as teacher of reading and English.

The new Central first grade teacher is Miss Nedra Ramsour, Uhrichsville, O., graduate of Miami University, who was an instructor for two years at Midvale, O.

The combined Lincoln and East High faculty will have two new members, including Miss Anna Leslie, Xenia, who will be instructor of mathematics and English, and Miss Bernice Hughes, Xenia, assigned to teach Latin and history. Miss Leslie is a graduate of Wilberforce University and Miss Hughes, graduate of Ohio University, taught during 1926-27 in Lincoln High School, Springfield, Mo., and during 1927-28 at Lincoln High in Wheeling, W. Va.
